

ExceleRate Illinois for Licensed Family Child Care includes 17 standards spread across the following four domains:

1. Teaching & Learning

Daily activities and interactions within the FCC home are indicators that a provider is offering an environment and experiences that are safe, healthy, and stimulating for children across ages and developmental abilities. This includes offering both indoor and outdoor activities to support varied learning experiences. To ensure that young children's experiences are developmentally and age appropriate, providers are expected to incorporate a comprehensive curriculum and child assessment system that are aligned with the Illinois Early Learning Guidelines for Birth to Three and Illinois Early Learning and Development Standards for ages three to five. By providing necessary adaptations to a child's experience, a high quality environment allows each and every child, including those with special needs, to learn, grow and develop.

2. Family & Community Engagement

Family engagement in children's early learning experiences is a key dimension of how early childhood settings can positively impact child and family well-being. Responsive and reciprocal provider-family relationships in early care and education settings may lead to greater family engagement and involvement both in and out of the child's home. Family child care providers can build these collaborative relationships with families through the following practices: regular, effective two-way communication and collaborative decision-making about children's learning experiences; connecting families to available community resources and building a sense of community among families as well as supporting families' needs and interests. In addition, helping families navigate transitions also provides meaningful support to children so that they can continue to succeed as they progress in their learning, growth and development.

3. Leadership & Management

Research demonstrates that strong leadership and sound business practices are essential to the sustainability of quality care and education provided in family child care. This is accomplished by incorporating sustainable and sound business practices, regularly assessing overall program operations, and establishing program goals to continually improve the quality of the FCC home. Careful attention to the provider-to-child ratio, size and age range of the group in a FCC home are additional critical factors to ensure the home maintains a high-quality environment where all children can learn and develop.

4. Qualifications & Continuing Education

High-quality family child care is implemented by providers who have the formal and relevant education and professional preparedness to manage the child care home, sustain sound business administration, lead any assistants in providing the most up-to-date practices for educational development, and engage with children and families in a mixed-age setting.

Glossary

Family Child Care Environment Rating Scale – Revised (FCCERS-R) – User-friendly tool used to assess the quality of the family child care home environment.

Continuous Quality Improvement Plan (CQIP) – Plan developed to assist providers in identifying and achieving improvements to strengthen their program.

Child Care Assessment Tool for Relatives (CCAT-R) – A 1 page health/safety checklist created for relative caregivers. Topics covered include: Food Prep, Environment, Routines, Outdoor Play.

Illinois Early Learning Guidelines for Children (IELG) – For children birth to age 3: Provide early childhood professionals and policy makers a framework for understanding child development by presenting information on what children know and should do and what development looks like in everyday life. The main goal of the Guidelines is to offer early childhood professionals a cohesive analysis of children's development with common expectations and common language. These Guidelines also provide suggestions and ideas on how to create early experiences that benefit all children's learning and development.

Illinois Early Learning & Development Standards (IELDS) – For children Preschool age to Kindergarten Enrollment Age: Developmentally appropriate set of goals and objectives for young children. Early learners must develop basic skills, understandings, and attitudes toward learning before they can be successful in the K-12 curriculum.

Individual Family Service Plan (IFSP) – Plan developed through the Early Intervention Child & Family Connections office for children 0 to 3 years of age after testing shows a delay in movement, learning, dealing with others, behavior, and/or self-help skills.

Individual Education Plan (IEP) – Developed in coordination with the local school district for children 3 to 21 years of age. An IEP focuses on special education and related services in schools. It includes information on the child's present levels of academic learning as well as future goals the parent and teacher have for the child.

Communication Modes – Refers to the variety of ways that the provider and parent communicate. This may include face to face conversations, newsletters, bulletin board, notes that go home with children, website, email, phone calls, parent conferences, planned social activities (eg. holiday celebrations), Facebook.
